DEAR FRIEND,

In Corrie ten Boom's book, Tramp for the Lord, she shares a story of a woman she met in Russia during the Cold War. "The old woman," Corrie wrote, "was reclining on a sofa. Multiple sclerosis had twisted her body in every direction...She had no mobility. The index finger of her right hand was all she could control. Nothing else. But oh, what she got from that finger. It moved across a typewriter keyboard all day and late into the night, tapping out words and sentences and paragraphs as she translated the Bible and other Christian books into Russian." When Corrie ten Boom came for a visit, compassion overcame her. She prayed, "Oh, Lord, why don't you heal this poor woman?" The woman's husband shared with Corrie, "God has a purpose in her sickness. Every other Christian in the city is watched closely by the secret police. But because she has been so sick for so long, they leave us alone, and she is the only person who can translate, undetected by the police." Remarkably, Christ was glorified through her weakness in a powerful way. The very thing we'd wish and pray away, the prickly thorn causing so much pain, was a holy place that allowed a very weak woman to become a pillar of strength in God's kingdom.

Corrie's story pierced my heart as I, too, have painful circumstances that I long to simply "pray away" as I assume most of us do. It is good to be reminded that those "prickly thorns" causing so much angst could actually be a HOLY PLACE that allows very weak people (like you and me) to become a PILLAR OF STRENGTH in God's kingdom.

I live in this "sandwich season" that I heard about years ago: caring for my dear elderly parents (ages 90 and 93), praying for my adult kids as they make tough decisions, and delighting in the precious gift of grandbabies. Although it is indeed an honor to care for my parents (alongside my wonderful siblings), this past year was much more challenging than I imagined. I often have to pause to pray as it can feel lonely and mentally exhausting some nights. I especially miss the fun, meaningful conversations I used to enjoy with my hard-working parents who immigrated from Korea to America with high hopes for their four children. Left to my own strength, no matter how deeply I love and respect my parents, I cannot always rise up in those ways I know would be redemptive and encouraging to them. However, by God's grace, it is through caring for my parents' basic needs that I am learning how much I need His strength and patience.

Corrie's story also reminds me of our faithful Family Hope volunteers who continue to host children, coach parents, friend/mentor/support vulnerable, hurting families right in our own communities. Some of our key volunteers this past year have suffered great loss and experienced unexpected trials. I witnessed these Jesus followers go through the fire of a brutal cancer diagnosis, heartbreaking miscarriages, financial loss, and broken relationships that seemed beyond repair. As each reached out for prayer, I had the privilege of gleaning from their grit and grace. Although they needed to halt their life plans as they sought counsel, prayer, and physical rest to heal, it brought me to tears when I received updates from them that they were continuing to faithfully serve, love, and bring His hope to others in the name of Jesus. I am forever grateful that I get to be a part of this big, beautiful team and for the reminder that His purposes for us remain constant and do not change based upon our "usefulness." As we seek to know Him and make Him known, no matter what we are walking through, what comfort to know that together we can live out His truth and grace and share all He has entrusted to us!

I look forward to seeing what He will do in 2025 as we embrace this verse with all our hearts:

Matthew 10:39

*If you cling to your life, you will lose it;
but if you give up your life for me, you will find it.*

Lanna

TESTIMONIES

of God's GOODNESS shared by those served and those who get to serve!

"I want to thank you for inviting me and my family over for this holiday! You all are extended family to us! We are truly grateful for you all. Love you all!" -Parent

"Even though it was only a few day hostings that we provided, we enjoyed loving on little 'A' and supporting her mama so she could work. While in our home, 'A' was prayed over and heard gospel songs. We were also able to encourage mom who was working so hard. It was a joy to show the love of Christ to 'A' and her mom." -Host

"Working with Family Hope shows me that there's people out there who won't judge you, but that are truly here to help you and be more of a friend to you. Family Hope becomes a family that you didn't know that you had. They believe in you and they help you to believe in yourself. They give you faith and it's a blessing to be part of a Family Hope. If you don't know God, they will help you get closer to Him." -Parent

"Serving as a Support Coach helps me to connect with the Holy Spirit. Serving others and looking for God sized solutions is only possible when the Holy Spirit is at work." -Support Coach

"We loved being able to help Mama 'N' and look forward to seeing how God continues to grow this relationship we have with her and her family. Thankful for all of you!" -Host

45 faithful volunteers involved in 5000+ hours of service impacting 40 mamas 270+ times and 50 children 650+ times by mentoring, providing meals, & assisting with transportation needs!

While offering Gospel-focused messages and Trust-based Parenting techniques paired with activities tailored for children's specific needs, Sweet Water also invested much time in these new areas of support:

Activities and dinner-time discussion ideas were created for families to do at home to support spiritual development and foster healthy connections.

LifeTown, a one-night family event, highlighted godly ways to manage money and employment opportunities. Participants chose professions, learned about the educational requirements, and discovered attainable wages. Moms and teens enjoyed the evening and left feeling proud of their accomplishments.

Working closely with the Dream Center to provide moms with life-transformative job training, Sweet Water mentors helped 5 mamas complete their training to be Medical Assistants!

"We had two moms accept Christ, and we applauded many God sightings over the year --- times when moms report on how they are growing in Jesus and see Him changing their lives and their kids' lives!"

-Sweet Water Ministry Director, Debbie Baldwin

21 Family Hope children had the opportunity to attend New Song Mission Summer Camp where they spent time soaking in God's Word and exploring His beautiful nature.
